

How to Get the Work Done

Thinning, Planting and Protecting trees can be a do it yourself project. However, these are physically challenging and time consuming tasks. It may take years to accomplish when working on your own. An alternative is to contract with others for this work.

The following list has been gathered from various sources. If you are a contractor and do not see your name on the list or if anyone has information about a contractor that is not listed or you wish to correct information listed below please contact Mike Reichenbach at mikereichenbach1@gmail.com.
